Missoula University and High School Students Strike for Climate

Because adults won't act, youth must

This Friday, the students and youth of Missoula Climate Strike will transition from learning about the climate crisis to crafting our demands. Our education system has failed us, but our education this week provided us with the framework for refining and formulating demands that speak directly to deconstructing capitalism and the status quo. This Friday is not an end, but rather the launch of a movement that seeks to disrupt a capitalist system that is stealing our futures.

If you would like to conduct an interview with the students involved in the Missoula Climate Strike, please contact us via email at panic@missoulaclimatestrike.org and we will work with you to set up a time.

About Missoula Climate Strike: The leaders of Missoula Climate Strike are students from the University of Montana, and Hellgate, Sentinel and Big Sky High Schools. We are planning a week-long climate strike from school that focuses on learning about the root causes of climate change so that we may create an informed action plan for survival.
