PEACE CENTER

YOUTH PEACEMAKER AWARD NOMINATIONS

Do you know young peacemaker doing amazing work in the community?

In 2001, Fr. Jim Hogan challenged the community to look to young people as we struggle to find peace in our world. He believed that our children and young adults could offer us an inspiring perspective. Now the search is on for the stories of peacemaking being lived out in our midst because it is these real life experiences that truly challenge and inspire us to find peace in our world.

Please submit your nomination for a young person who, in their home, school and/or community, has shown us a vision of what peace and peacemaking looks like. This person should be,

- Age 5-18
- Committed to peace, justice, and/or environmental sustainability.
- Nominee(s) may be a group or individual
- A role model among their peers who walks the walk of nonviolence, social justice, and sustainability.
